

Lecturing and Presenting in Engineering

Select the 5 aspects or strategies that you think are most likely to lead to student success.

- Students' prior achievement
- Students being bored
- Students' feeling like they belong
- Positive teacher-student relationships
- Learning in groups
- Flipped classrooms (active learning)
- Lectures
- Using humour
- Setting clear goals
- Giving feedback to students
- Microteaching/video review of lessons
- Explicit teaching strategies
- Problem-based learning
- Cooperative learning vs competitive learning
- Grouping students by achievement level

Lecturing and Presenting in Engineering

Select the 5 aspects or strategies that you think are most likely to lead to student success.

- Students' prior achievement
- Students being bored
- Students' feeling like they belong
- Positive teacher-student relationships
- Learning in groups
- Flipped classrooms (active learning)
- Lectures
- Using humour
- Setting clear goals
- Giving feedback to students
- Microteaching/video review of lessons
- Explicit teaching strategies
- Problem-based learning
- Cooperative learning vs competitive learning
- Grouping students by achievement level